Ooo Numb. 1607.

The Daily Courant.

Wedneſday, April 9. 1707.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated April 15.

Vienna, March 30.

THE Court having receiv'd Advice that Leopolſtad is in the utmoſt Danger to fall into the Hands of the Malecontents in a few Days for Want of Proviſions; Yeſterday Morning General Staremberg by the Emperour's Order ſet out Poſt for Presbourg, where he will find drawn together 3000 regular Soldiers and 2000 Men of the Militia, which are judg'd to be a Force ſufficient to relieve Leopolſtad: But 'tis adviſ'd that the Hungarians have ſtrongly intrench'd themſelves in 2 Paſſes through which General Staremberg muſt neceſſarily march, ſo that 'tis probable there will be Action between them. The 23d of this Month the Malecontents made a new Irruption into Moravia, burnt 24 Villages, and put moſt of the Inhabitants to the Sword. The Prince of Lichtenſtein's Eſtate ſuffer'd great Damage by this Irruption. 'Tis talk'd the Emperour is minded to ſend M. Guarient to the Czar of Muſcovy, to perſwade that Prince not to make Peace in the preſent Conjuncture with the King of Sweden, but 'tis alſo ſaid M. Guarient is deſirous to be excus'd from going on that Errand. By Order from Court all Gaming in Taverns, Coffee-houſes, and other Publick-houſes is ſtrictly forbidden, and ſome Perſons who have tranſgreſs'd that Order have been taken up and impriſon'd. We are afraid of a Rupture with the Court of Sweden, on Account of the Inſult made on the Swediſh Miniſter here by Count Zobor; but 'tis hop'd that Matter will be accomodated by the Interpoſition of the Miniſters of England and Holland. 'Tis rumour'd his Imperial Majeſty has at the Inſtance of the States General written to the Pope in Favour of the Biſhop of Paderborn; and that the ſaid Biſhop will ſhortly be put into Poſſeſſion of the Biſhoprick of Munſter.

Berlin, April 5. The King of Pruſſia is intirely recover'd from his late Indiſpoſition, and takes the Diverſion of Hunting in the Neighbourhood of this City daily. They write from Saxony, that ſome Perſons (Emiſaries of the Czar of Muſcovy) had endeavour'd to ſow Jealouſy and Diviſion between the King of Sweden and King Auguſtus, and that the Swediſh Secretary Ciederhielm's chief Buſineſs at Dreſden, was to make a thorough Examination into that Matter. To Day we receiv'd Letters from Dreſden, which tell us that King Auguſtus has given the ſaid M. Ciederhielm a Declaration in Writing, in which he profeſſes to renounce all Alliance with the Muſcovites, and promiſes to maintain inviolably the Treaty of Peace with Sweden. King Auguſtus had ſollicited the King of Sweden to cauſe 3000 of the Saxons that are Priſoners to be deliver'd up to him; but his Swediſh Majeſty refus'd it, repreſenting that moſt of the ſaid Saxon Priſoners had already taken on in his Service; that he had Need of them to proſecute the War againſt the Muſcovites and Poles that are of their Party; and that on the other Hand King Auguſtus being at War with no Body, had no Occaſion or Pretence for augmenting his Forces. 'Tis the Talk here, that Peace between Sweden and the Muſcovites is in greater Forwardneſs than is generally thought. The Engliſh and Dutch Miniſters at Leipſich, have declar'd that they ſpeedily expected Orders from their Principals to acknowledge Staniſlaus for King of Poland.

Hamburg, April 8. They write from Poland, that a Body of Muſcovites continues about Kaliſch, and that they have with them a Train of Cannon and and Stores of Ammunition; but that they have not yet made any Motion towards beſieging Poſnania, which the Swedes ſeem prepar'd and determin'd to defend vigorouſly. Letters from Leipſich ſay the Swediſh Troops had certainly receiv'd Order to march the 16th; but whither was not known.

Landau, April 5. 'Tis certain the French cauſe many Regiments to march out of Alſace to other Parts; and tho' they give out thoſe Regiments are order'd to Rouſſillon, 'tis known they march to the Netherlands.

Maubeuge, April 11. All the Foot garriſon'd along the Sambre, are to march out to Morrow for Namur, in the Neighbourhood of which Place a flying Camp of 15 or 16000 Men is to be form'd, to guard the Poſt of Mazy.

Liege, April 11. All is in a Readyneſs here for an early and vigorous Campaign. The Dutch Foot are wholly recruited, and this Week 7 or 800 Horſes are expected for remounting the Cavalry. 8000 heavy Bombs are provided here, and are forthwith to be ſent to Flanders by the Way of Bruſſels.

Mons, April 11. The Elector of Bavaria has deferr'd his Departure for Namur, till the Duke of Vendome arrives. All the Troops are commanded to hold themſelves in ſuch a Readyneſs to march, that they may draw into the Field on the firſt Notice. Yeſterday arriv'd here from Maubeuge a Convoy of 170 Waggons, loaded with Corn, Oats, Powder, Cannon-balls, ſmall Mortars, Grenadoes, &c. The Powder is put into the King's Magazines, but the reſt into the Monaſterys.

Namur, April 12. A good Number of Men are kept at work on the new Intrenchments on the Eminence of St. Barbe. Laſt Night a ſtrong Detachment of Horſe march'd out from hence, on what Deſign is not known. The formidable Preparations made by the Allies in all their Places on the Maeſe, give us great Apprehenſions; but we ſhortly expect a great Number of Troops to cover this Place.

Liſle, April 12. Since Sunday laſt ſeveral of the Duke of Vendome's Servants arriv'd here, with Part of his heavy Baggage; and the Duke himſelf is expected the 16th Instant. In the mean Time the Horse are order'd out of the Towns to canton in the Villages. A great Number of Cuiraſſes are brought hither for the Uſe of our Cavalry. Troops arrive daily from Germany.

In Yeſterday's Courant, the 22d Line from the Bottom of the 2d Column, for hither read to Madrid.

By John Marſhal at the Archimedes and Spectacles in Ludgate-ſtreet. The Art of making Spectacles and other Object Glaſſes on true Braſs Tools, acceptable to the moſt ingenious Gentlemen and Approv'd by the Royal Society, as appears by the Certificate given me (as order'd by the Society) by that very great Maſter of all Mathematical and Mechanical Science Capt. Edm. Halley. Bad Spectacles, that is, ſuch as are wrought untrue or on the ordinary Tools made of Iron or other Materials, are ſo far from helping that they are prejudicial to the Sight, for they tire and wear out the Eyes. Wherefore by ſuch only as are wrought on true fine Braſs Tools, is the Sight truly help'd and very long preſerv'd. To the nice and exquiſite grinding of the Glaſſes I add many Conveniencies in the framing, &c. particularly I have newly invented a Frame and Box which lies in leſs room than can be imagin'd, and yet performs the Office of both Reading-Glaſs and Spectacles. I make Microſcopes of all ſorts, and Teleſcopes of the moſt excellent Work and beſt contrivance of all lengths. But will give any Man 2 Guineas for that a Foot Teleſcope that will perform as much as a 4 Foot one. Gentlemen may be aſſur'd of Honeſt and exact performance without Hyperbolical vanity from John Marſhall.
